

About AllConditions Cases

AllConditions cases are an affordable alternative to other weather - resistant cases currently on the market. While still providing superior protection, AllConditions Cases do not come with the high price tag of other brands.

AllConditions cases are not waterproof. Rather, they are water-resistant and dustproof, and have been certified IP53 by an independent testing laboratory.

Every AllConditions weather-resistant case features our proprietary gasket sealing system and patented metal latches to keep its contents clean and dry.

At PFC, we do everything here in the U.S.A. – design, mold engineering, and manufacturing. We source our materials domestically, and we don't outsource anything to foreign manufacturers. PFC is an ESOP company, meaning every PFC employee becomes a shareholder with a long-term stake in our success. When you call PFC, you're talking to "one of the owners" no matter who you speak with – and that makes a big difference.

Double Wall Construction

A key design feature for our commercial customers who choose to take advantage of our AllConditions cases with custom molded interiors, and one that sets it apart from every other weather-resistant case on the market, is our full double wall construction.

And it's a difference that offers significant advantages.

With an AllConditions case with a custom molded interior, our full double wall construction offers something that no single wall case can – a layer of air between the outer and inner walls. When an AllConditions case with a custom molded interior is dropped or suffers an impact, its outer wall absorbs much of the initial energy. Then, the air space between the walls reduces how much of the remaining energy is transferred to the inner wall. And finally, any remaining energy is further dissipated by using one of the available urethane foam inserts making our custom cases an ideal packaging source for virtually any product.

Recyclable

AllConditions cases are molded from tough, recyclable, high-density polyethylene (HDPE) – a material legendary for its strength and durability under all conditions.

HDPE is also the most-often recycled plastic, and universally regarded as the most environmentally friendly plastic available.

While an AllConditions case is designed for years of hard use, if a consumer ever no longer has a need for it, it can be easily and responsibly recycled.
